THERE IS NO COOLING-OFF PERIOD UNLESS YOU OBTAIN A CONTRACT CANCELLATION OPTION

California law does not provide for a "cooling-off" or other cancellation period for vehicle lease or purchase contracts. Therefore, you cannot later cancel such a contract simply because you change your mind, decide the vehicle costs too much, or wish you had acquired a different vehicle. After you sign a motor vehicle purchase or lease contract, it may only be canceled with the agreement of the seller or lessor or for legal cause, such as fraud.

However, California law does require a seller to offer a 2-day contract cancellation option on used vehicles with a purchase price of less than $40,000, subject to certain statutory conditions. This contract cancellation option requirement does not apply to the sale of a recreational vehicle, a motorcycle, or an off-highway motor vehicle subject to identification under California law. See the vehicle contract cancellation option agreement for details.

What are the benefits of leasing vs. buying?

There are benefits to both leasing and buying a vehicle, but the decision is ultimately yours depending on your preferences, financial situation, and other factors.

If you like driving a new vehicle every few years, leasing is an easier process. Because a car lease only lasts a few years, you can simply return your vehicle at lease end and lease another new vehicle. Plus, leased vehicles are new model years, meaning you'll have access to the latest technology and accommodations more frequently.

If you tend to keep your vehicle for as many miles as possible, financing or buying a vehicle is a great option. After you pay off the vehicle, you'll own it outright and can choose to sell it and put the money towards another vehicle. You can also modify the vehicle to your liking.

What are my lease-end options, and when should I start planning?

There are three core lease-end options:

- Return the vehicle to the dealership at lease end and lease another vehicle
- · Return the vehicle to the dealership at lease end
- · Purchase your vehicle at lease end

The dealership will send you notices to remind you of the end of your lease, so in the meantime, we recommend that you inspect the vehicle for imperfections and wear and tear. You should also clean the vehicle inside and out.

Can I return my lease early?

If you don't love your currently leased vehicle, you can return it before your lease is up. However, you may need to pay early termination fees. Speak to a leasing professional at Glendale DCJR for more information.
